

Philosophy's Relevance in Information Science

October 3rd - 4th, 2008, University of Paderborn, Heinz Nixdorf Institute, Germany

OVERVIEW

The conference aims to present the multilayered reciprocal effects between philosophical basic reflection and applied research in the context of philosophy and information science. It addresses a larger public and offers a forum of discussion between experts from different specialist areas.

LOCATION

UNIVERSITÄT PADERBORN
Die Universität der Informationsgesellschaft

Heinz-Nixdorf Institute
University of Paderborn
Fürstenallee 11
33102 Paderborn, Germany

CONFERENCE PROGRAM

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Friday, October 3rd, 2008

Philosophy of Computing and Information

09:30 am - Luciano Floridi

10:00 am - Thomas Roth-Berghofer

Complexity and System Theory

11:30 am - Klaus Mainzer

12:00 am - Bernd Radig

Ontology

02:00 pm - Barry Smith

02:30 pm - Barbara Inge Karsch

Knowledge Representation

04:00 pm - Selmer Bringsjord

04:30 pm - Reinhard Keil

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Saturday, October 4th, 2008

Info-Computalism

09:00 am - Gordana Dodig-Crnkovic

09:30 am - Vincent C. Müller

Action Theory

10:30 am - Peter Janich

11:00 am - Uwe Riss

Theory of Science

12:30 pm - Francis C. Dane

October 3rd - 4th, 2008

IN ASSOCIATION WITH

- GI Special Interest Group on Philosophy and Informatics
- The International Association for Computing and Philosophy (IACAP)
- Deutsche Gesellschaft für Philosophie e.V. (DGPhil)

SPONSORED BY

Volkswagen Stiftung
Hannover, Germany

VolkswagenStiftung

ORGANIZATION CHAIR

Prof. Dr. Ruth Hagengruber
Institut für Humanwissenschaften – Philosophy –
University of Paderborn
33098 Paderborn, Germany
ruth.hagengruber@uni-paderborn.de